

Latin America Cities Conference: São Paulo
Brazil's Economic and Business Outlook

Wednesday, May 27, 2015

Amcham Brasil

Rua da Paz, 1431, Chácara Santo Antônio, São Paulo

Agenda

In 2014, Brazil dealt with sluggish economic growth, above-target inflation, a growing budget deficit, and corruption scandals. 2015 is the year for reforms. The new economic team is in the process of implementing policies to strengthen the economy, generating sustainable growth and restoring investor confidence. The private sector will have a very important role to play in resuming growth in Brazil.

Americas Society/Council of the Americas, in partnership with Amcham Brasil, will hold a half-day conference in Sao Paulo on May 27th. The conference will focus on the economic and business outlook for Brazil, convening private-sector leaders spanning various industries.
